GENERAL INFORMATION PERTAINING TO WATER RIGHTS IN CALIFORNIA

There are two principal types of surface water rights in California. They are riparian and appropriative rights.

A riparian right enables an owner of land bordering a natural lake or stream to take and use water on his riparian land. Riparian land must be in the same watershed as the water source and must never have been severed from the source of supply by an intervening parcel without reservation of the riparian right to the severed parcel. Generally, a riparian water user must share the water supply with other riparian users. Riparian rights may be used to divert the natural flow of a stream but may not be used to store water for later use or to divert water which originates in a different watershed, or return flows from use of groundwater.

An appropriative right is required for use of water on nonriparian land and for storage of water. Generally, appropriative rights may be exercised only when there is a surplus not needed by riparian water users. Since 1914 new appropriators have been required to obtain a permit and license from the State.

Statements of Water Diversion and Use must be filed by riparian and pre-1914 appropriative water users. The filing of a statement (1) provides a record of water use, (2) enables the State to notify such users if someone proposes a new appropriation upstream from their diversion, and (3) assists the State to determine if additional water is available for future appropriators.

The above discussion is provided for general information. For more specific information concerning water rights, please contact an attorney or write to this office. We have several pamphlets available. They include:

- "Statements of Water Diversion and Use"
- "Information Pertaining to Water Rights in California"
- "Water Rights for Stockponds Constructed Prior to 1969"
- "Appropriation of Water in California"

CONTACT REPORT

PERSON CONTACTED: Bruce Allen

TELEPHONE NO. (415) 928-7823

DATE: March 22, 1990

STAFF PERSONNEL: Mark Stetars

SUBJECT: Letter complaining about use of water by upstream party.

Mr. Allen indicated that he and the upstream neighbor both have small onstream ponds that regulate water in Myra Vista Creek. Until the property was sold about three years ago, the creek ran through both parcel all year long. The new owner operates a fleet of trucks from his property and he washes them every evening. During the summer, the neighbor draws the pond down every evening while washing the trucks and it takes all day for the pond to fill again. The pond never gets full enough to spill and no water is released through the dam. Mr. Allen indicated that for two weeks last summer the creek ran. He found out that the neighbor had been on vacation for those two weeks.

I indicated that his problem sounded like a dispute between two riparian users, which is an area that the Board has very limited authority. I advised him that riparian disputes usually had to be resolved by the courts. I did sent him an information pamphlet and some complaint forms, in the event that the use could be concluded to be other than riparian.
